

Magnetohydrodynamics beyond the ideal limit

Wednesday, 18 May 2022 13:20 (20 minutes)

While the ideal limit of magnetohydrodynamics is a convenient and effective framework to model astrophysical sources, there are, possibly, physical situations that do not fall within this approximation. We discuss, in a historical perspective, some (mostly existing) scattered ideas that extend this framework.

Primary author: ANSOLDI, Stefano (University of Udine)

Presenters: ANSOLDI, Stefano (University of Udine); HERNANDEZ, Benjamin

Session Classification: Connection with Prof. Ruffini for greetings