

Examples of Machine Learning in Astrophysics

Thursday, 22 June 2023 09:45 (45 minutes)

I will provide two examples of machine learning applications in astrophysics. The first example is using deep neural networks to test the unification model of active galactic nucleus (AGN). The second example is a comparison between a simple specific neural network and a Fine-Tuned GPT model for the estimation of spectral redshift.

Primary author: WANG, Yu (ICRANet, INAF)

Co-authors: Dr RASTEGARNIA, Fatemeh (ICRANet); Prof. MORADI, Rahim (IHEP)

Presenter: WANG, Yu (ICRANet, INAF)